

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET IS EXPECTED TO DECLINE IN THE COMING MONTHS

Real estate agencies have launched new products for apartments sale, such as through videos, or by triplicating the number of online marketing campaigns while have significantly reduced the number of sales associates. The sales of apartments and rents in Albania has been affected eventually, but it seems that although in this situation, constructors remain most optimistic. As per evaluation expectations, this year, is predicted a decrease in real estate sector as a result of COVID-19 crisis.
