REMITTANCES UNDER COVID -19 CIRCUMSTANCES

On February 2015, the General Assembly of the International Fund for Agricultural Development established June 16 as the International Day of Remittances. Based on World Bank statistics for Albania, remittances are a source of income for over 27% of Albanian households. Given the economic slowdown and deterioration caused by the COVID-19 crisis, even the slightest changes in remittance-related policies can cause significant financial effects in developing countries, on which the impact of remittances is substantial.
